Resume

There has been a misunderstanding, where the mythology is in the article. This needs to be more clear for next meeting.

There will be two parts of the mythology, the first part, is everything the group need, the setup if you will call it that. The second part of the mythology is what the group is going to do with the info displayed for the reader.

The first part of the mythology has to be shorter, because it is too long. The dataset should be larger, because it is easier to argue the implementation is better, if it works on a larger dataset.

The whole mythology should be one paragraph.

Only small code fragments should be in the article paper, the repository should be available online, for easy access.
